```
bool constant< sizeof (internal::ConvertHelper
           < std::add reference< T
                                                            is convertible< std
            >::type , int >::Test(internal
                                                            ::add reference< T >
           ::ConvertHelper< std::add reference
                                                                 ::type, int >
           < T >::type , int >::Create()))= value =sizeof(small )>
                                                                                             internal::is enum impl < NotUnum, T >
           bool constant< sizeof
           (internal::ConvertHelper
           < gxx::add reference< T
                                                            is_convertible< gxx
            >::type , int >::Test(internal
                                                             ::add reference< T >
           ::ConvertHelper< gxx::add reference
                                                                 ::type, int >
           < T >::type , int >::Create()))= =sizeof(small )>
```